WE NOMINATE

David Djaparidze, 40-year old newcomer to the Princeton scene, who at the start of his second year as a resident of New Jersey is undertaking the direction of a new, far-reaching and yet little-publicized venture—Princeton University's Program in Slavic Languages and Literatures. In a period when the bromide, "They know so much, but understand so little" applies both to Russians and Americans in grasping the workings of the two diametrically opposed "political-economic systems" separated by the Iron Curtain, Djaparidze and his associates in the year ahead will be laying the foundations for what will undoubtedly become an independent department of study on both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Comparable in one sense to the way in which social scientists are starting to move forward on appreciably wider fronts, the Russian-born Djaparidze and a supervisory committee, headed by an able, tough-minded classicist, Whitney J. Oates, have projected a program ranging far beyond the limited concept of foreign language instruction. It is their conviction that our hopes for enlarged rapport with peoples of other lands are rooted in increased knowledge of, and respect for, the "culture of others—their history, their literature, their art, their religion, all of the things they value as their own."

While Djaparidze is deservedly known as a specialist in the "Slavic Area," he is not the kind of scholar-teacher who is content with simply finding more round holes into which more round pegs may be fitted. For instance, as the University recently pointed out in a press hand-out, "he has a full command of Russian, French, English and Georgian and a working-knowledge of all of the Slavic languages as well as of German, Italian, Greek and Latin." Among his special interests are the history of the Russian language, modern literary Russian, Russian literature, and comparative studies of medieval Slavic civilizations in history, literature and archaeology.

Called to Princeton a year ago as Visiting Professor of Russian and a Senior Fellow of the eight-year old Council of the Humanities, a post reserved for scholars of marked promise, Djaparidze last spring was offered the permanent post of professor with the Faculty's decision to elevate "Slavic Studies" to the status of a special program. Contributive factors in implementing this decision were not only Djaparidze's remarkable capacities but also the experience he had gained in devoting the year 1953-54 to studying the organization and research methods used in this country's four major Slavic centers—Harvard, Columbia, California (at Berkeley) and Washington (Seattle).

Although a native of Tiflis, capital of the Georgian Soviet Republic and the cultural center the late Josef Stalin used as a springboard in promoting "the revolutionary movement," Djaparidze is a French citizen. His parents "emigrated" to Paris in the early 1920's; he was trained in French institutions and throughout his career has been identified with the University of Paris, where until recently he held a professorship in the Sorbonne's research division. His background includes several assignments as Visiting Lecturer in Russian at Oxford University and participation in international conferences as a spokesman for the French universities and the French Ministry of Education.

For endowing a pioneering endeavor with the enthusiasm traditionally associated with new frontiers in America; for seeking to strengthen the mutual respect and understanding which Western statesmen feel are essential to survival in a shrinking and divided world; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

TOO ATTRACTIVE!

Penns Neck Has Problems. Penns Neck found Monday night, just as other portions of the Princeton area have in the past, that it occasionally hurts to be located in one of the nation's major scientific and research centers. It was apparently a rather painful experience for all.

Put simply, this is the problem: A British firm wants to assemble scientific instruments in what is now the Penns Neck Community Club on Route 1. Residents of the area, particularly those living on Varsity Avenue, are opposed to the firm assembling scientific instruments there.

Because the Penns Neck Community Club is in a residential zone, the British firm, Techné (Cambridge) Ltd., needs a variance. This can only be granted by the West Windsor Township Committee, acting upon a recommendation from the Zoning Board.

Residents of the surrounding area crowded into the West Windsor Township Hall Monday night to register their opposition before the three-man committee, which had already received a favorable recommendation from the Zoning Board. The result was, in fact, a rehearing of the Techné application.

Before the night was out, the meeting degenerated into a name-calling melee. The Township Committee was caught in a cross-fire between the representatives from Techné, openly supported* by no more than two members of the audience, and the sizeable group of opposing Penns Neck residents.

Committee to Cogitate. In the end, the Committee decided to postpone a decision to a special session called for next Tuesday night. The Techné representatives asked that a verdict be rendered earlier, but Mayor Malcolm B. Roszel preferred to make the decision at a public meeting. "So you people can throw brickbats at me."

Only two members of the committee will participate in the decision, however. The third member, Arthur L. Everett, disqualified himself from voting because he had already signed a document releasing the Penns Neck Community Club from a deed restriction requiring that the property not be used for commercial purposes.

Although Mr. Everett said he had signed the release as a private individual who happened to live within the area covered by the deed restriction, those opposing Techné argued that he had already made a decision and therefore should abstain from voting. When the vehemence of these individuals increased, Mr. Everett agreed to disqualify himself.

In spite of lawyers' comments that the deed restriction was completely independent of any action the Township Committee might take, the residents insisted upon discussing it. They pointed out that if the deed restriction would stop the sale of the club to Techné, there was no need to oppose the granting of the variance. The lawyers refused to commit themselves on the validity of the restriction, however.

"Commercialization" Opposed. T. D. Truitt put the most general argument before the Committee, asking that the governing body commit itself to protecting the area from "commercialization." The Committee made no such statement.

More specific objections were put by the greatest number of Penns Neck residents, however. Their major talking point was that Techné

SECOND CHURCH CALLS: The Rev. F. Hugh Lifton has been called to become the new pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church. A native of New Zealand, the Rev. Mr. Lifton has been studying in the United States for the past two years. (Story, Page 12.)

Techné representatives explained that they planned to do all of their transportation by station wagon, with trucks to be used only in case of an emergency—such as a station wagon breakdown. They added that they would be willing to require all traffic to Techné to use the Route 1 entrance, which would virtually eliminate Techné-originated traffic from Penns Neck streets.

Their operations would require no more than four to five employees in the next few months, with a maximum staff of maybe 20 later. Techné representatives noted. The headquarters in England employs only 60-65, is housed in a former parsonage, and was praised by the mayor of the town of Duxworth for keeping the grounds in excellent shape.

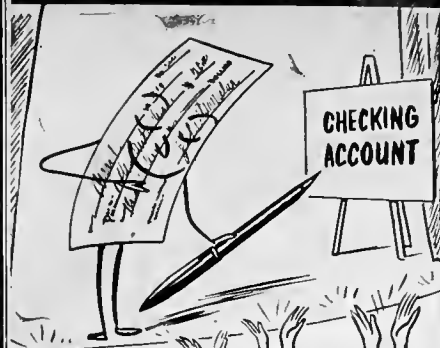

PACED GROWTH URGED. By West Windsor Group. The West Windsor Taxpayers Association Inc. has issued a call for immediate measures "to insure an orderly, planned growth" for the community. In a letter to the Township Committee, the organization expressed its concern over the Township's ability to cope with "the complex problems that continue to arise."

"Our chief concern is the possibility that West Windsor may become flooded with apartments, large-scale housing developments, second-rate shopping centers and undesirable industries which would ruin our community both aesthetically and financially," the letter states. Getting down to specifics, the group suggested three measures to keep the density of population down in the Township.

First, and of great immediate importance to the Princeton Recreation Center, the association asked that the section of the zoning ordinance allowing apartments be repealed. (Picture, page 3). This repeal would be effective until the preparation of a master plan for the municipality, which is several years away.

Ten Years Ago In Princeton

TOWN TOPICS, August 16, 1951: These were among the stories making summer-time news a decade ago.

"Arithmetic and Beer." School-children who found a problem in their arithmetic books today involving a woman's capacity for beer drinking might be a bit surprised, but more than two centuries ago, it was apparently a common occurrence. The Princeton University Library has received a notebook compiled in 1722 by one Stacy Beakes, a 14-year old resident of Trenton, which tested him in this fashion:

"A Certain man and his wife did usually drink out a Vessel of beer in 12 days and the Husband found often by experience that his wife being absent it would last him 20 days. The Question is how many days the wife would be drinking it alone."

"The New York Times, which rarely tucks tongue in cheek over any subject, headlined the story it printed on the library's acquisition 'A Lady's Capacity for Beer immortalized.' The Times also became sufficiently intrigued with the problem to provide the answer, commenting:

"A Certain man and his wife together drink one-twelfth of the beer in a day, the man alone one twentieth. One-twelfth minus one-twentieth leaves one-thirtieth, which is the amount the wife drinks in one day. Therefore she takes thirty days to empty the 'Vessel.'"

In another sector of Manhattan (far less colorful in 1961 that it was ten years ago), Princeton made news in this fashion:

"Immortal Prose Dept. On the front page of The New York World Telegram was a large three column picture of a man strutting a bango and wearing a shirt that had PRINCETON emblazoned across his chest. He was James Manzi, one of more than 2,000 Brooklyn Dodge fans admitted free to Ebbeets Field for bringing a musical instrument and participating in the first annual Music Depreciation Night.

"In explanation of his attire, Mr. Maozi, a sheet metal worker, was quoted to this effect: 'No, I ain't a Princeton person but my daughter goes with a Princeton and I borried his shirt.'"

Princetonians who were members of the 307th Field Artillery Battalion (part of the 78th Division) headed to Pine Camp, N.Y., for two weeks of field training. The group included:

Lt. Col. Sterling Anders, 28 Hollingmead, Maj. Joseph W. Miller, Jr., Princeton Pike; Capt. George R. Bishop, Jr., 274 Nassau Street; Corp. Albert H. Snow, 98 Jefferson Road; Pfc. George H. Gallup, The Great Road; Capt. Frank T. Gorman, 6 Southern Way; Lt. Donald R. Bryant, Jr., 194 Nassau Street; Lt. Stuart H. Brown, 226-C Harrison Street; Lt. Robert H. Porter, 78 Alexander Street; Lt. John B. Hughes, 224-C King Street; Pvt. Thomas S. Godolphin, Joseph Henry House; and Pvt. Lucius Wilmerding, 3d, 2 Rosedale Road.

In other military action, three Princetonians were called back to active duty: Captain Viratlio W. Turner, 3d, of Valley Road, returned to the 105th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron at Newark; Lt. William Miller, 59 Stanworth Lane, and Lt. Hyman L. Battle, Jr., 87 South Stanworth Drive, both Marine Corps Reserve officers, flew to Korea, where fighting was in its second year.

A practical joker with a subversive twist to his mind was plaguing Princetonians by writing them letters to advise them of their appointment as air raid wardens... instructions were to go to Borough Hall, where a multitude of ridiculous (and wholly imaginative) equipment was reportedly waiting for them... the letters were signed, "Hugh B. Reddy."

Meyer Goldstein was chairman of the Lions committee planning the club's annual outing at Squatters' Grove... Paul Alford, Jack Turner, Jr. and Paul Giroux were serving with him... the Valley Road School's old gymnasium was remodelled into a new cafeteria, and a series of 25-cent luncheons was announced by Mrs. Richard E. Bradley, chairman of the cafeteria committee.

McCarters' programming came full cycle with the return of "Susan and God," the comedy which had its world premiere here in 1937... Joan Bennett was in the leading role of the straw hat version... Edna Ferber's "Show-bat," this production starring Kathryn Grayson, Howard Keel and Ava Gardner, was at the Playhouse... Monty Woolley took over the Garden in "As Young as You Feel."

the Junior Baseball League won the championship... team members included Henry Gee, Bob Ritchie, Ellery Calkin, Peter Lappan, Bob Cox, Carl Henlein, Charles Coffman, John Broadway, Bob Foster, Pete Johnson and Bob Reamer.

On the football front, Princeton was looking for a quarterback to replace the graduated George Chandler, who had piloted the 1950 Tigers to an undefeated season... followers of the Orange and Black wondered how long the current 13-game winning streak would last.

Person To Person

A friend was telling us some interesting thing about the tallest building in the world, the Empire State Building in New York City.

Standing on an area of about two acres (the site of the old Waldorf Astoria Hotel), it rises to 102 stories above the street, 1472 feet high, 488 feet higher than the Eiffel Tower, and 426 feet above the second tallest building in the world.

Its enormous weight is 303,000 tons of steel, stone, and almost any other metal or material you can name, which makes it truly one of the largest undertakings of man.

It is classed as one of the modern 7 Wonders of the World, and gives us a startling comparison of the progress and ways of modern man, compared with all previous history of building. Various world famous structures in history, small by comparison, took many years to build, but this modern giant, the Empire State Building, took only 11 months from start to finish.

It reminds us of the American wartime slogan "The difficult we do at once, the impossible takes a little longer." And in serving your automobile needs, we are mindful of that motto in aiming for your complete satisfaction.

GARDEN APARTMENTS IN QUESTION: The garden apartment complex proposed for Route 1, came under fire again last week as the West Windsor Taxpayers Association asked that the section of the zoning ordinance permitting apartments be repealed. In a letter to the Township Committee, the association suggested that immediate repeal would "hold the line pending the adoption of a master plan." The Princeton Recreation Center's application to construct 200 of the apartments, one eight-unit of which is shown in an architect's sketch, is pending before the West Windsor Zoning Board.

PLANS CHANGE

Lockheed Plans Postponed. Lockheed Electronics will not build on its 212-acre site in West Windsor Township at any time in the near future, a company spokesman revealed this week. The subsidiary of Lockheed Aircraft had hoped to occupy the site this year when it purchased the property in April, 1960.

Business has not met expectations, however, and firm plans have never been made to use the site, the spokesman explained. The firm is relatively dependent on government contracts, he added, and the receipt of a large contract could easily change the picture, bringing the firm's 100-man headquarters unit to Princeton.

Lockheed originally gave the impression that it would move its entire staff of 2000 to Princeton, but now it says that only portions of its operations will be brought here, as required by increased business. It presently has an industrial division in Metuchen, a headquarters and military systems group outside Plainfield and another division on the West Coast.

At present, it appears that the industrial division will grow most quickly, according to the firm, but there is space for expansion in Metuchen. If a large defense contract was received, however, the military systems group would probably push the headquarters division out of Plainfield and onto the West Windsor site.

Meanwhile, Lockheed will retain the 212 acres here. The property has a 4500-foot frontage on Route 1 and is bounded by Province Line Road on the north and the Delaware and Raritan Canal to the west. Originally Stavid Engineering Inc. the firm was purchased by Lockheed Aircraft in December, 1959. It was merged with one of Lockheed's divisions to form the present Lockheed Electronics.

VANDALS HIT U-WASH

More Than $1000 Damage. Two young men invaded the U-Wash at the Shopping Center early Tuesday morning and did more than $1000 damage. The culprits, who evaded Township Police, broke into machines, smashed a window and damaged the wall.

Sergeant Michael Lisi and patrolman Antonio Diafori of the Township, surprised the two vandals heading across the parking lot at 1:43 a.m. At the time the pair had a shopping cart filled with two change machines.

The policemen gave chase but were unable to catch the two. Upon returning to the U-Wash, they found three coin machines, a candy machine, a coke machine, a cigarette machine, an electric ironer and a dryer damaged, in addition to the broken window and wall. Later in the day, John A. Archer, owner of University Cleaners, which operates the U-Wash, estimated damage at more than $1000.

ONE FOR THE RECORD

"Man of the Week" Cited. Sen. Clifford P. Case (R., N.J.) has placed in the Congressional Record TOWN TOPICS nomination of O. Kline Fulmer as "Man of the Week" for his conception of the projected Princeton Manor House.

Sen. Case called the attention of Congress to the efforts of Mr. Fulmer and other Princeton residents to build cooperative apartments for the elderly. TOWN TOPICS pointed out, in its issue of June 29, that "Manor House" represents a distinctive, refreshing approach to one of the Nation's most pressing domestic problems—a rapidly aging population—and breaks sharply with the unfortunate American tradition of attempting to place elderly citizens in social backwaters during their so-called declining years.

CHILD RUNS INTO TRUCK

On Spruce Street, Helen Pukuzinski, age 3, ran from behind a parked cement truck Tuesday morning into the side of a panel truck. Except for a cut lip, she was not injured. Two witnesses, Jacob Bryan, 59, of Trenton, and Charles

Response: "Terrific!"

From Vershire, Vt., a real estate dealer this week wrote TOWN TOPICS:

"The response to my last ad in TOWN TOPICS was terrific. Better than the Boston Herald, Christian Science Monitor and Wall Street Journal."

Here in Princeton, real estate dealers have for years checked their response from TOWN TOPICS against other media. That's why TOWN TOPICS has long been the leader in this field of advertising, in which results are so highly traceable.

Golden, 34, of Yardville, shouted to the driver, who heard their warning and applied his brakes. The child struck the side of the motionless truck.

The driver of the truck was William J. Hurley, 29, of 52 Maple Street. The accident occurred near 125 Spruce Street.

PLANT REOPENS

After Strikebound Violence. Computer Systems, Inc. closed its plant for 48 hours last week following disorder on the picket line being maintained by the International Union of Electrical Workers.

The company said it felt that the violence which broke out endangered the personal safety of its employees remaining on the job. South Brunswick Township officials promised to maintain order and said that repetition of last Thursday's disorders would not be tolerated.

The plant reopened on Monday following a two-day shutdown. The union has been on strike since May 8, seeking recognition of its bargaining rights in an attempt to unionize the Monmouth Junction plant.

Nothing you can do.

—Y. ZOLD OWL

Just as a lot of people vowed they'd find a way to do something about the weather, no matter what, it took an unexpected turn for the better. For example, after six days in the high 80's or low 90's last week, cool winds arrived shortly after dawn Sunday and the thermometer never topped 75.

As a result, the first part of this week was as pleasant as summer can be, but the temperature began edging up again. Showers might be a part of Thursday's picture, but the week-end prediction was good: no more than seasonably warm and no muggy humidity.

PUBLICATION HONORED

"Broadcast" Is Cited, Princeton Hospital's monthly publication, "Broadcast," has received honorable mention in a nationwide competition for hospital publications of all types. One of six singled out in such fashion, it won a first-place bronze plaque in 1959.

"Broadcast" has a circulation of 1500 and is distributed among all hospital personnel and in the Princeton community. Its editor is Mrs. Douglas Stuart, the hospital's public relations director. Mrs. Stuart is also the new president of the New Jersey Hospital Public Relations Association.

TEENS PLAN LUAU

This Friday at Y. The Y's "summer teen" group will meet at 6:30 this Friday for an Hawaiian luau. Boys will wear Hawaiian shirts, and the girls are to dress in muu-muu's for the "feast." A King and Queen of the island will be chosen during the evening.

The final event of the summer's program will be a trip to Island Beach on Friday, August 25. A bus will leave the Y at 10 a.m., and dessert and beverage will be provided. Those interested in attending the luau or going to the beach should make reservations through the YWCA, Walnut 4-4825.

OPENINGS AVAILABLE

In Rocky Hill School, The Rocky Hill Cooperative Nursery School has a few openings for three and four-year-olds for its 1961-62 session, which begins Thursday, September 28. Interested parents should call Mrs. R. H. Williams, registrar, at WA 4-3470.

The school's other new officers are Mrs. H. D. Holland of Rocky Hill, president, Mrs. Lloyd Lewis of Rocky Hill, treasurer, and Mrs. John Dixon of Skillman, secretary. Mrs. William Hilgendorf of Kingston will be in charge of supplies.

The present plan calls for Tuesday and Thursday classes for three-year-olds, with Monday, Wednesday and Friday meetings for the four-year-old age group.

News Of The THEATRES

(A review of the one-act plays currently being presented by the Princeton Players appears on Page 10.)

4 ONE-ACTERS TO OPEN
Little Theatre Program
The Little Theatre will offer as its third annual production four one-act plays this Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the meeting hall of First Presbyterian Church. Curtain time will be 8:30 p.m.

This year the group of Princeton High School graduates and students is offering Arrabal's "Picnic on the Battlefield"; Anton Chekov's "The Evils of Tobacco"; Tennessee Williams' "This Property is Condemned"; and Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Aria da Capo." All four will be produced by Virginia Corbett, a 1960 Princeton High graduate who is now a student at Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va.

The Little Theatre was founded two years ago by several former Junior University's Theatre Intime and summer stock company and the children's theatre. It gave four one-act plays at the Unitarian Church that year and followed with another group last summer at Princeton Country Day School taken over by the Princeton Players this summer.

All Little Theatre productions are free, although contributions will be accepted. This year the group has dipped into a fund of $25 built up from past donations to cover the cost of the sets.

As producer, Miss Corbett, who helped form the Little Theatre with Diana Terry in 1959, will also direct "This Property is Condemned," John Thorpe will direct "Picnic on the Battlefield" and Peter Vajk, "Aria da Capo." Peter Vajk will be the orator in Chekov's soliloquy entitled "The Evils of Tobacco."

Appearing in the four productions, in addition to the directors, will be Gordon Lutz, Sally Thorpe, Louisa Cook, Linda Almgren, Robert Szathmari and Cam Bloch.

Gordon Lutz is in charge of costumes and sets; Dan Haber, lighting and publicity; Bob Szathmari, sound; Sally Thorpe, properties; John Thorpe, make-up; and Peter Vajk, Business manager.

SEA AND LAND

Film Program Planned
Explorers and adventurers who have covered the globe with square-rigger, camel or diver's fins will narrate their experiences and show their films this fall in the third Kiwanis Travel-Adventure Film Series. It will be held at McCarter Theatre.

The series will open on October 10 with "3,000 Years Under the Sea," a film which tells the story of the first underwater archaeological expedition to the Aegean Sea and the discovery of a Bronze ge shipwreck. Music for this film has been created by Stanton Waterman and Brooks Jones from Aegean folk music and modern jazz.

On November 7, Clifford Kamen will present "The Splendors of Persia," a film which explores Iran from its rich oil fields to the tombs of Darius and Xerxes.

For its final program, Kiwanis will present Captain Alan Villiers and "Monsoon Adventure," a story of nautical rambles around the Indian Ocean.

Tickets for the series are $5 for adults and $3 for students. Mail orders should be addressed to Princeton Kiwanis Club, Box 461, Princeton. Tickets may also be obtained at the McCarter box office, Hinkson's, the Princeton University Store, Center Stationers and Jack Honore's Barber Shop. All programs will begin at 8 p.m. for the benefit of the many young people who attend.

THE GARDEN

Carry On, Sergeant (August 14-19) is a slapstick British comedy in the same vein as "Carry On, Nurse," which followed "Carry On Sergeant" to the USA. We may be prejudiced, but we do not like slapstick British comedies: our brothers on the far side of the Atlantic are very good when it comes to subtle, satirical

In this case, the individual who is "carrying on" is an army sergeant vaguely reminiscent of America's own Ernie Bilko. The sergeant, portrayed by William Hartnell, is about to retire and wants to leave with a perfect record. This means he wants to have his men acclaimed as the army's best-schooled soldiers, which requires a good deal of fast footwork. Helping out

Question of the Week

Question: Do you think convicted airplane hijackers should receive the death penalty?

Where Asked: Palmer Square

Mrs. Maureen Shanks, 59 Russell Road, domestic. I think they'll have to do something drastic to stop it. If that means the death penalty, then I'm for it.

Miss Moira Harvey, 94 Rosedale Road, domestic. Yes, I do, definitely. Think of all the people who are endangered and who might lose their lives. I think Khroshevy has a hand in these hijackings.

Theodore S. Zoupanos, 2 Dickinson Street, college instructor. It depends on the circumstances of the hijacking itself. I feel there should be a range of penalties which would include the death penalty and it would be up to a jury and a judge to determine the exact degree of the crime and to impose one of the existing penalties.

Mrs. John Line, 112 Rollins Road, housewife. No, I don't approve of capital punishment for any crime. It's one of my convictions.

Herb Mihan, Lawrenceville Road, mover-salesman-student. I feel it is a just penalty. In this case I think the punishment fits the crime. I feel that anyone who is a citizen of this country and who forces a plane to fly to Cuba or to any country has betrayed his own country, has committed an act of treason, and should get the death penalty. I feel no pity for them whatsoever.

Mrs. Harold Pearson, 155 Mansgrove Road, housewife. Yes, I do. A lot of other people might be killed so why not the hijacker?

Richard T. Frost, 30 Wheat-sheaf Lane, professor. I would say the death penalty should be permissible but not mandatory.

Mrs. Edward Bill, 26 Alexander Street, lecturer in Russian, Princeton University. No, because I don't feel there should be a death penalty for anything. Life imprisonment for hijacking, yes, the death penalty, no.

Charles McCarthy, 5 Madison Street, deliveryman. No, there is too much bunk about it now. They're hating it all on Castro and he didn't have anything to do with the last two. Just a couple of crackpots. This can happen any time. With the Castro element injected into the hijackings, people are so excited they can't act rationally.

Miss Janet Kneubuhl, 17 Hidden Road, student, Wellesley College. Yes, I do. I feel it is the same as kidnapping and there is just as much danger involved to the passengers of an airplane as there would be to one person being kidnapped. It is my belief that kidnapping is punishable by death.

Raymond Strang, 74 Mercer Street, theological professor. No, I don't think the death penalty would deter these people from doing this. Surely that would be the only reason for imposing the death penalty.

John Stelling, 132 Elm Road, gardener. Yes. They endanger quite a few lives. I wonder why this crime doesn't come under the Lindbergh Law for kidnapping, which is punishable by death.

Mrs. Anna Dapree, 26 Green Street, maid. Yes, because I think something has to be done to stop this sort of thing.

Declan O'Scanon, Marlboro, N. J., physician. No, I don't. I think that right now we have our tempers up and have gone overboard. I think we should give them a pretty steep penalty because we are being made fools of, but a man's life is a man's life. I wouldn't recommend it all the time but perhaps now when feelings are high, life imprisonment would be a suitable punishment. But I wouldn't give them the death penalty. I'm opposed to that. The only time I would ever like to see the death penalty invoked would be for peddling dope, as I have seen what that has done to people. I think airplane hijackers would be deterred by something less than the death penalty if they knew it would be imposed for a certainty.

Thomas Stemmle, 142 Moore Street, PHIS student. Yes, because I feel it is pretty serious to hijack a plane. I think the bill making it punishable by death will pass the Congress.

MIX-MATCHED RUG For Bathroom. Somebody at Cabin Craft brought in a meat grinder one day and the result is a new collection of blended colors used for bath rugs and seat covers and practically guaranteed to knock the eyes out of anybody who uses your shower. At Home Decor in the Shopping Center. What Cabin Craft did was to take the towel colors used by Martex, Fieldcrest and Callaway and throw them all together in a kind of tweedy stew. For example, if you want a pink rug, you get a rug that combines in its yarns the pinks used by all three towel manufacturers. This means that, if you have Fieldcrest, Callaway or Martex towels, you get an automatic match without even trying. Dazzling.

To its various lines of practically everything, Home Decor has now added window shades. These white vinyl shades are made with a linen finish in three different styles and in widths from 23 to 37 inches. These are actually in stock; no ordering necessary. Choose from a plain shade, a scalloped end shade with fringed pull or a blackout shade which is different from most blackout shades in that you cannot see the black. It is embedded within the white shade, so that nobody but you knows it for what it is. Prices are $1.49, $1.99 and $2.98, for each of the three styles.

New fabrics have been added to the studio-couch cover collection. There's a pair of tweeds that weren't there before and new corduroy. You'll find colors like lilac tweed, brown and tan tweed, royal, brown or gold corduroy, to name a few, and curtains, bolster covers and pillow covers to match them all.

You can now buy a corduroy studio couch cover in two pieces that look like one. There is a cap coverlet which you remove to use the bed, and a dust ruffle—dust pleat, really—which remains on the couch all the time.

New items in the drapery line, too. You'll recall the custom made drapes, made to the exact inch in almost every color you could think of (including black, by the way). Now there are fibreglass drapes, if you want them, mostly in quiet, natural shades like beige, eggshell and the like.

And if you have big picture windows to cover this winter, consider the new milium lined drapes which will keep out drafts and probably pay for themselves by reducing your heating bill. These are just being introduced in home decorating shops, as you may have heard, and are at present

Fuzzy Floors Do you have a five by eight bathroom?

If so, you are eligible to buy a wall-to-wall bathroom carpet now available for people with cold feet at Home Decor in the Princeton Shopping Center.

You buy the soft, shag oblong, latex backed, and take it home. Laying it carefully on the floor, after you've removed the children's wet bathing suits, your husband's wet towel and an old bandaid, you cut around the bathroom fixtures until you have a perfect, custom-fit rug.

It's machine washable, $10.95, in about 15 colors, including pale grey, yellow, blue, lilac and so on. A five by six size is $8.98.

available only in a few prints and solids.

For your kitchen, Home Decor has drip-dry broadcloth cotton tier curtains in ten color combinations, including white with blue, pink, green or yellow, solids with contrasting trim and the like. The contrasting color occurs in a narrow band at the top and a wider band at the bottom, festooned with tastefully applied rickrack.

These useful and attractive curtains come in widths of 26, 30, 36 and 45 inches and valances. Price is $2.98, except for the 45-inch width which is $3.49.

Provincial and American (i.e., eagles, drums, etc.) short curtains for dens and boys' rooms are a perennial favorite at Home Decor. The shop suggests you use them on some new popularly priced Kirsch brass traverse rods which are $4.98 for the single style up to $6.98 for a longer window.

People who brood about conformity may add this one to their collection: Home Decor now has India Madras throws in 12 colors—12 colors with continuity, no less. This means that you can re-order the same plaid if you want more of it. Madras has always been one-of-a-kind because of the whim of the Indian weaver, as you know.

LIGHT FROM THE ALAMO Texas, Anyway. Somebody in Texas must have been to Scandinavia, because we'd swear the new candles from Texas now at Princeton Gourmet, must have come from way north.

There are two models. One is a stocky foot-high candle two and one-half inches across. The other is a 15-inch standard candle. Both styles are made of pure beeswax in shades of bright pink, shades of red, or yellow and green, beige and rust.

The colors make soft, horizontal stripes around the candle as though the maker

PROBLEM MARRIAGE: George Hamilton and Susan Kohner are involved in an arranged marriage in "By Love Possessed," at the Playhouse through Tuesday.

with the shenanigans are a group of character actors who might be fine if teamed with the right star but here aren't even up to the level of bitko's sidekicks.

Peter Rogers produced and Gerald Thomas directed this rather flimsy farce, with the screenplay by Norman Hudis (who also perpetrated "Carry On, Nurse"). Although produced in the same country, it's not in a class with "The Mouse that Roared" and other fine British comedies.

L'Avventura (August 21-26) is a film that would probably be better the second time around than the first. Like a good play, it has deep meanings that can be appreciated only when it is possible to forget about the framework of the plot. For this reason, a single viewing leaves one a bit disturbed, feeling that he has missed something—that he has just seen a "very good movie and its his fault if he didn't understand all of it."

The story itself is very simple, so simple in fact that the pace is often agonizingly slow. A beautiful young heiress disappears from a group of wealthy Italians on a yachting party weekend. Her companions, the police and especially her fiance and her best friend all join the search. The real story concerns the love affair which springs up between the heiress, fiance and best friend as they search for her they never do find her!

This relatively straightfor-

BEN-HUR BACK AGAIN: The academy-award winning film epic "Ben-Hur" is at the Lawrence Drive-In. Charlton Heston and Hayley Harcourt star along with Stephen Boyd, Jack Hawkins and Hugh Griffith. Co-featured is "24-Hour Alert."

ward plot gives director Michelangelo Antonioni, who also wrote the script, plenty of time to develop his characters and present views on love and morality. The two chief actors, Gabriele Ferzetti as the fiance and Monica Vitti as the best friend of the "heroine," seem to have followed his directions well, producing unusually well-developed characters for a movie.

THE PLAYHOUSE

By Love Possessed (August 16-22) emphasizes the problems of effectively transferring a best-selling novel to the motion picture screen. Apparently, scriptwriter John Dennis and director John Sturges chose to reproduce the plot of James Gould Cozzens' novel rather than the essence (if the latter was possible at all). Whereas the novel was like a plant which grew slowly and developed deep roots, the movie is more of a weed-like vine, presenting a tangled mass above ground with virtually no roots.

The cast has been lifted in its entirety from the novel and almost without exception, fine actors and actresses have been chosen for the key roles. Efron Zimbalist Jr. is the successful, proper lawyer, while Barbara Bel Geddes is his rather unhappy wife. Lana Turner has aged sufficiently to be effective as the associate's wife in whom Zimbalist finds escape, and Jason Robards Jr. is her loving spouse. George Hamilton and Susan Kohner round out the pairings with Hamilton as Zimbalist's son and Miss Kohner as a guardian of the senior member of Zimbalist's firm (Thomas Mitchell).

The acting does not wholly compensate for the poor screenplay, however. The intricate patterns of love developed in prose are discernible only if one is acquainted with the novel, making this one of those unique films where it helps to have read the book first.

Homicidal (August 23-26) is a poor man's version of last year's thriller "Psycho." Producer-director William Castle has attempted to make a really gripping suspense film, but both the direction and the story fall far short of the Alt-Ed Hitchcock success.

The villain of "Homicidal" is a sinisterly attractive had poured the bright green and let it solidify, then poured the darker green, and so on. The texture is a pleasantly woolly one, rather like flocking.

For the remaining of days of summer and fall, Gourmet has some new soups which can be served cold, for hot! Chateau-Suzanne has cucumber, romaine, chicken curry or broccoli, and a fine watercress soup that should really only can be served cold (or hot) keeps these treasures in the refrigerator. They are canned of course.

SKIRTS!

Bailey Gathers Them In. One of the most exciting skirts we've seen for people going back to school, or just plain back, is a mohair and wool as black and woolly as a newborn black lamb, its nubian fleece caught in at the waist with lots of deep, full pleats so that the whole skirt is about a mile in circumference. It's at Bailey's, in the Princeton Shopping Center for $24.95.

This skirt is one of a collection of mohair and wool skirts designed and made by Mr. Bailey's own firm especially for slim-waisted ladies who can wear pleated mohair.

There's a four-gore skirt, one with full, unpressed pleats and an extremely full one with pleats, like the black we mentioned above. Fabrics include a dark grey, bright rust, a kitenish black and grey plaid, and an assortment of those rich and wonderful plaids that no Scot ever dreamed of.

Most of the pleated skirts have a belt at the waistline, and many of them have big patch pockets, too. Prices are $10.95, $14.95 and $19.50, depending on style.

You'll be very much interested in new cotton suede skirts (washable) cut with gores and scooped side pockets like a dungaree skirt. Rust, olive and cream are the colors—that cream, or bone, or whatever you want to call it, is particularly effective in the suede. A sash loops around the waist.

Cotton suede has also been used for a water-repellent coat—greatcoat, really—that looks like grey suede leather. There is a wide, pointed collar, big patch pockets, double breasted brass buttons and a full lining of lipstick red orlon pile. $33.98.

Bailey's likes, for fall, a pair of roll-up sleeve blouses with small mandarin collars that provide a pleasant change from the usual shirt collars. The print is a dark green floral stripe in one, a rust and brown square arrangement in another.

The sweater for fall is a modified bulky with a diamond seed stitch pattern, three-quarter sleeves and tiny bronze buttons closing it from the cardigan neck. The sweater is wool, in beige (the best color), red, white or dark green.

Olive and rust shadow stripes lineup on a combed cotton shirtwaist transitional dress designed with pan collar above a slashed neckline, short sleeves and cluster pleats. For the same kind of weather, you could wear a tapestry print in deep, glowing colors, with minute self-buttons in a row down the front, a roll up collar and those cluster pleats.

News Of The THEATRES

GENET, MILLAY OFFERED Players' Final Productions. The Princeton Players will close their first season with this Saturday's performances of Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Aria da Capo" and Jean Genet's "The Maids." The reasons given for curtailing the schedule were the eight days needed to dismantle the "theatre" at the Country Day School, and theatrical commitments by many company members in New York.

The season was described as a "financial success" in a program note, which further stated, "We have proved that the theatre can run on a 'shoe string' in Princeton." The group plans to return next summer.

Despite some casting difficulties, the Players have offered a varied diet of drama to the avid theatre-goer, and the current one-act plays should please the gourmet as well as the steak-and-potatoes man.

"Aria da Capo," often staged and certainly worthy of a repeat, serves as an effective curtain-raiser in the longer Genet play. Columbine cries to her Pierrot for ocarinas and mushrooms, and two gentle shepherds make a nasty business of murder.

PIERROT AND COLUMBINE: George Reinholt and Louise Stein star in Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Aria da Capo" as presented by the Princeton Players. The one act play is being offered in combination with Jean Genet's "The Maids" at the Princeton Country Day School auditorium through Saturday. (Staff Photo.)

The witless Columbine is played by Louise Stein, a newcomer to the Players. She takes the role lightly and capriciously, as she should, and matches George Reinholt (Pierrot) very well. Mr. Reinholt uses his voice to good effect, and clowns delightfully. John Crowther, hidden by a beard and cap, played the prompter, and directed the captivating piece.

Joseph Fitchett and Richard Morgan take the shepherds' roles with the proper naivete, and develop their distrust of each other to the point of murder very well. The squabble over the land on either side of the wall they build in jest with the concomitant water and mineral rights seems a little labored, but the point is there.

"The Maids" Gripping. The best of the school of morbid Frenchmen, Genet presents a chilling tale in "The Maids." Unlike Anouilh, he penetrates to the heart of his theme, and gives the audience ample material for bad dreams.

The maids' fantasies, acted out in psychodrama style, culminate in a horrible scene of suicide murder, where the "kill or be killed" maxim finds a new chilling meaning. The play explores man's degradation as a tool of other men and of himself, a 1 only a frightening moral can be drawn.

Maria Tucci and Nellie Marrell, who are on stage almost the entire 1½ hours, do full justice to their material. Miss Tucci is the stronger actress, but Miss Marrell comes across well, particularly in her solo. The two should be congratulated on maintaining the high emotional pitch and changing the atmosphere with their interpretation.

Julia Fremont appears briefly as their mistress, and conveys the conflicts in that tortured soul very well. The director, Robert Sugarman, who was also responsible for last week's "Romeo and Jeannette," has done an admirable job of blending action and gestures with the steaming dialogue.

Producers John Fitchett, John Crowther and Paul Glickler have given Princeton summer theatre on a venturesome level. The Players' collective imagination has been strong, and in most instances success has followed their efforts, with "Endgame" the prime example. A return engagement is obviously in order.

"SERIOUS" COMEDY SET

For Rucks Playhouse. A new play, with the designation "For Adults Only," will be presented at the Bucks County Playhouse, New Hope, for two weeks, beginning this Monday "A Whiff of Melancholy" by James W. Andrews, deals with the breakdown in sexual relations after many years of marriage, and is described as a comedy on a serious subject.

Nancy Kelly, whose Broadway credits include "The Bad Seed," "Season in the Sun" and "A Mighty Man is He," will co-star with Tod Andrews, who followed Henry Fonda in the title role of "Mister Roberts." Nina Wilcox completes the cast of three.

Performances will be given at 8:30 Monday through Saturday, with 2:30 matinees scheduled for Wednesday and Saturday. The current Playhouse offering, "A Man Around the House," will close this Saturday evening.

"PAL JOEY" NEXT

At Music Circus. The Rodgers and Hart musical comedy, "Pal Joey," will open Tuesday at 8:40 p.m. at the Lambert.

Any Spare Rooms?
Faced with the highest enrollment in its history, the Princeton University Graduate School has issued an urgent plea for assistance in housing the influx. With the University's facilities already exhausted, the waiting list includes 130 single applicants and a number of families.
The Graduate School enrollment this year will be 910—an increase of 60 over last year. In addition, some 40 visiting fellows who are not candidates for degrees must be housed.

Those with rooms or apartments available for graduate students should contact the University Real Estate department. The University will not act as an agent, but will serve as a clearing house for information, according to Gary B. Nash, assistant dean of the graduate school.

of Freeholders has awarded a contract for construction of the fourth Stony Brook Reservoir to the McConachy Construction Co. of Blairstown.

The new reservoir will be located at dam site 11 which is located in Lindale in the upper reaches of the Stony Brook Watershed. The trapped water will form an 11-acre lake, approximately 15 feet deep, that will contain 14 million gallons of water. Construction is expected to start in two to three weeks.

The accepted bid was $38,091. The highest of seven bidders was over $114,000. The plan of construction is subject to approval by the U.S. Soil Conservation Department.

CONTRACTOR NAMED

For McGraw-Hill, Irwin & Leighton, Inc., of Philadelphia, has signed with the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company a $6,017,000 contract to construct the new office building in Hightstown for the publishing concern. Work on the Princeton Road structure is scheduled to begin immediately.

In late 1962 or early 1963, McGraw-Hill will move eight service departments into the new structure including some accounting services, inventory control, machine data processing operations and order services and lists. There will be 240,000 square feet of floor space and a main office building 180 by 390 feet. A second one-story building will house cafeteria and meeting rooms.

The company's warehouse, opposite the new building, was completed in 1958.

News Of The CHURCHES

CALL ISSUED

By Second Church. The congregation of the Second Presbyterian Church voted unanimously Sunday to extend a call to the Rev. F. Hugh Liffiton of New Zealand to become its next minister. The action was taken upon the recommendation of the pulpit nominating committee. The Rev. Mr. Liffiton has spent the last two years in the United States studying first at the Union Theological Seminary and then at Princeton Theological Seminary. He conducted the Presbyterian Union Services Sunday, following which the members of the Second Church adjourned to their sanctuary to hear the report of the pulpit nominating committee.

It was nearly a year ago that the Rev. David Crawford announced his resignation as pastor of the church to become alumni secretary at Princeton Theological Seminary. The Rev. Dr. Lester H. Clee served as interim minister while the search was under way for a new pastor. Judson H. Kurtz and Charles M. Jones served as co-chairmen of the pulpit nominating committee which conducted the search. Other members were Mrs. W. Boynton, Miss Ann Cooper, Mrs. Harry Einsminger, Donald W. Perkins, Mrs. Harry E. Riddell, Kenneth R. Wright, Theodore T. Tams Jr. and Frank M. Uptake.

Call Accepted. The Rev. Mr. Liffiton has accepted the Second Church's call. Before the appointment is final, however, it must come before the Presbytery of New Brunswick and the Presbyterian Church of New Zealand.

A 1950 graduate of Otago University (a part of the University of New Zealand), the Rev. Mr. Liffiton was ordained upon graduation from the Theological Hall of the Presbyterian Church of New Zealand in 1954. The 37-year-old minister did parish work in New Zealand for five years before coming to the United States to study "pastoral theology."

He spent the past two years here on a student visa but will now have to apply for one as a member of a skilled profession. In the course of his studies here, the Rev. Mr. Liffiton collected a Bachelor of Divinity degree from Union and a Master of Theology degree from the Princeton Seminary.

The Second Church's prospective minister and his wife are presently living in Penns Neck but plan to move into Princeton upon the acquisition of a church manse. Mrs. Liffiton taught school in New Zealand and, more recently, at the Riverside Church in New York.

HARVEST HOME PLANNED
At Griggstown Reformed. The Griggstown Reformed Church will continue a century-old tradition Saturday as it holds the Harvest Home, an annual event in the community for more than 100 years. A cafeteria supper will begin at 7 p.m., with the Blackburg Band to play both during and after dinner.

The menu will include homemade cakes and pies, baked beans, succotash, chicken salad, baked ham and deviled eggs. For adults, there will be coconut and fancy stands, pie and cake stand and flowers for sale, while for the children there will be a fishpond and rides.

Mrs. Lester Terhune is in charge of arrangements. The group singing during the total 15 minutes will be directed by Edward Tornquist.

LUTHERAN SCHOOL SET
For Griggstown Church. The Bunker Hill Lutheran Church, Griggstown, will open its Daily Vacation Bible School Monday. Classes are scheduled for 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. through August 31, with a closing program planned for the evening of the last day.

Mrs. Kristian Samuelson will serve as the school's director. It will concentrate on the theme "Around the World with Christ."

Teachers include Mrs. Frank Ahlert and Mrs. Alf

Norin, pre-school; Mrs. Stanley Rodland and the Rev. George Aase, primary; Mrs. Robert Mathisen, junior; and Mrs. George Aase and Mrs. Elmer Haanesland, youth. Buses will run to both Route 27 and the Bunker Hill Road areas.

blonde — the type to avoid in a dark alley. She starts out relatively tamely by devising an elaborate murder plot to eliminate a California justice of the peace—for no apparent reason. After finishing the dirty deed, she returns to her job as a nurse to an elderly, dumb and paralyzed woman. Before long, she is working on the murder of her patient and some relatively innocent bystanders.

As in any good mystery, information is released bit by bit. The viewer is supposed to become so wrapped up as the tension builds that he is willing to overlook the trite ending, making "Homicidal" a sort of non-thinking man's mystery. Perhaps if it could be rewritten with a different ending...

INJUNCTION EXTENDED

On Blight Vote. The injunction issued to prevent the Borough Planning Board from taking any action on the basis of a 4-3 blight vote has been extended by mutual agreement of the parties. The injunction, originally issued by superior court judge Frank J. Kingfield July 3, was scheduled to expire August 11.

Under the injunction, the Board cannot forward to the Borough Council a recommendation for a declaration of blight, as it would normally do. William Miller, Planning Board attorney, believes a decision by the court cannot be expected for some time—certainly a matter of weeks and possibly of months.

"ISOLETTE" PRESENTED
Lions' Gift to Hospital.
Thanks to the Lions Club, the hospital has the latest model "isolette," a device designed for the care of premature babies. The new isolette includes controls to maintain a specific body temperature and a steady, safe supply of oxygen.

The isolette is only the latest Lions Club gift to the hospital. Earlier donations included the eye clinic's complex equipment and the eye bank for the transportation of eyes to metropolitan centers, for use in cornea transplants. The club also maintains a supply of glasses for the area's medically indigent, working through the hospital's outpatient ophthalmology clinic.

OUT FOR BLOOD

Red Cross Works All Hours.
The need for blood does not observe regular hours any more than death takes a holiday so the Princeton Red Cross often finds itself calling in blood donors in the middle of the night. On the latest such occasion, for example, the Red Cross telephoned four people at midnight Sunday for urgently needed blood, in addition to the six that had been called earlier in the day.

According to the three women who do this all-hour calling of blood donors, Mrs. A. C. Cornish, Mrs. Jack Honore and Mrs. Alan Tredennick, August is a particularly difficult month because of the large numbers of donors who are away on vacation. Normally, the hospital places two orders a week in an attempt to plan ahead but emergencies may require immediate donations.

The Red Cross has 1500 to 1600 donors on its rolls, but this includes a number of students at both Princeton University and Princeton Theological Seminary. Between 100 and 110 pints of blood are required every month by the hospital—the Red Cross has collected 12,326 pints since the program began in 1949.

Individual donors are called only twice yearly, although they can actually give blood more frequently without harm. Some ask to be kept on the "emergency list" for such things as total transfusions for newborn babies.

The Red Cross is now sending notices to all business firms in hopes of registering additional donors. It will start its annual drive in October.

Report from THE MAYOR

Acting Mayor. From Thursday until Tuesday, Councilman Alfred Sorenson served as Acting Mayor in accordance with provisions of law which authorize designation of the Council President whenever the Mayor is absent from the Borough for more than 72 hours. In the event of his absence, the senior member of the Borough Council would be empowered to serve as Acting Mayor.

History Relived. The Mayor's absence was part of a special effort to introduce his children to more of the scenes of early American history at Washington, D. C. and especially in such colonial scenes as Monticello and Williamsburg.

This was our second visit to Thomas Jefferson's home near Charlottesville. This visit coordinated with the publication at Princeton with the 16th volume of the Jefferson papers under Julian Boyd's editorship.

Nassau Street. This morning the mayor walked down Nassau Street—Williamsburg—and was again reminded of the many rich ties between the history of Princeton and of this town.

We visited the home of two 18th century mayors of Williamsburg, Thomas Everard and George Wythe. A law professor at the College of William and Mary, Wythe was a teacher of Jefferson and a signer of the Declaration of Independence.

Along The Way. As usual, this Mayor always keeps an eye peeled for ways that other towns have found to ease some of our modern problems. Throughout Virginia, for example, some traffic lights carry the legend "Advance Green" or "Delayed Green" signifying that those cars turning from one direction get a head start, thus easing the flow of traffic.

Much use is made of the brief four-way red and of walk-wait signal to give pedestrian a fighting chance at busy intersections. Parking lots in many places have been hidden by attractive fencing and planting, and trees and grass break up the maddening monotony.

Luck and Leisure. Princeton will continue to have many visitors from around the world. A letter just arrived from a recent guest from India.

This visitor, recalling long hours of conversation while touring Princeton said, "I and others learnt a good deal from our discussions and hope to learn further if luck and leisure avail." He describes his "hope that the future will bring us even closer in understanding and human fellowship."

To advance the contact with our foreign visitors, three members of Princeton's hospitality committee recently shared their expenses at a conference in New York City. They met with representatives from other towns who are anxious to serve as hosts to visitors from the United Nations as part of a non-governmental program.

Friday Open House The regular weekly "Tell It to the Mayor" sessions will be held on Friday, August 18, and Friday, August 25, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings.

EXPEDITION BEGINS WORK On Ancient Temple. The Princeton Theological Seminary archaeological expedition has found 33 rows of seats in the ancient Roman theatre which it plans to reconstruct. Located in Petra, Jordan, the theatre apparently had capacity of over 3000 when it was built early in the Christian era.

Dr. Philip C. Hammond of the Seminary faculty is in charge of about 55 men who are clearing the theatre. The expedition, which also includes the Rev. John Salmon of the Seminary staff, hopes to clear the theatre site completely and move well into the planning and restoration stages of the project this year.

While working on the theatre, the expedition members are living in ancient tombs in the mountains surrounding Petra. Their only supply route is through a gigantic cleft in the rock which, according to local legend, was produced when Moses struck the mountain rock with his staff to obtain water for the Israelites of the Exodus.

Prior to starting on the theatre, the expedition "warmed up" by excavating a tomb complex known as "El-

Vehicles has reminded drivers that every moving traffic violation adds points to their account and that drivers amassing 12 or more points within three years lose their licenses. Convictions in other states and Canada are credited against a driver's record just as if they had occurred in New Jersey.

The full 12 points are given for two different offenses: driving or permitting another to drive while under the influence of alcohol or drugs, or involvement in a fatal accident as a result of operating a vehicle in violation of the law. Leaving the scene of an accident adds eight points, while reckless drivers are charged six.

Simple speeding violations are four points each, and all other violations (except parking) add three points. An additional three points are tacked on for three convictions within an 18-month period.

APPLICATIONS AVAILABLE

For Princeton Manor House. Applications for residence in Princeton Manor House, a $5 million cooperative apartment house for those over 55, have been mailed to interested individuals and couples, and are available by writing to 341 Nassau Street.

An average of five completed applications are coming in each day, with the $200 registration fee. About half of the applicants are married couples, 35% spinsters or widows and the rest bachelors or widowers. A few come from as far away as Florida and Texas, with the majority from the Princeton area, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New York and Connecticut.

A life-time lease for the most expensive apartment costs $30,000, and half of the present applicants have specified this apartment. The building will contain about 350 apartments, health facilities, dining room, and kitchen space, and sun rooms.

IVY INN WINS FIRST
In State Tournament. Two-run rallies in the sixth and seventh innings gave Ivy Inn a well-earned victory last weekend in the first round of the New Jersey State Amateur East Pitch Softball League. The Princetonians topped the Meade Street Aces of Perth Amboy, last year's runners-up. It was a 6-5 final, with the game going three and a half innings, Saturday and the final three and a half Sunday because of rain.

Some 2,500 rabid softball fans were on hand for the tournament, staged in Warner Park in Elizabeth. The second round playings send Ivy Inn against the Pizazzes of Plainfield Saturday at 1 o'clock, with the winner in this game playing again on Sunday. The Class A finals are scheduled for Saturday, August 26.

Teaching, 5-2, as the sixth inning began, Ivy Inn narrowed the gap when Jim Chambers punched a two-run double. Still two behind in the bottom of the seventh, the Princeton entry drew even when Bob Kehoe tripled across one run, and then scored the tie-breaker on an infield hit by Harry Kahny.

Kahny the Winner. Coming on in relief of Lou DeMeglio, who worked the first five and two-thirds innings, Kahny became the winning pitcher. He fanned three of the four batters to face him.

Others who stood out for manager Pete Sannino's team were George Sickel with two hits in two at bats, including a triple that scored Jack Petrone, and Bobby Cook with his defensive play.

In addition to Ivy Inn's regulars (see picture), six others from the league that has been playing here this summer are on the squad. They are Kahny, Cook and Joe Toto from the Sportsmen; Bob and Jim Chambers, and Dave Broadley from King's Inn. Manager Sannino is on record as saying "This is undoubtedly the best team ever to represent the Princeton area."

HOLES IN THE TIGER
Football Team Has Many Gaps. Every other year, the football schedule in Palmer Stadium is far more attractive than it was the preceding fall. Caught in a virtually unalterable rotation—as are the other seven teams in the Ivy League—Princeton plays Penn, Cornell and Yale all away from home in the even-numbered years.

This fall, these three colorful opponents—plus Rutgers, Colgate and Dartmouth—will come to Palmer Stadium, replacing Columbia, Brown and Harvard as they do. Penn, Cornell and Yale fall of which follow their own teams on the road in solid fashion will give the Tigers a much more attractive home schedule. Cedar-dwellers for years, Brown and Columbia don't even back their own teams at home.

Wistfully, one might wish that the schedule had enabled the Tigers of 1960 to play their top games in Palmer Stadium, because this was a Cinderella eleven whose rise from ashes to riches was extremely appealing. And—without being too harsh on the 1961 Tigers even before they step into cleated shoes—these same top attractions may be something more than the Tigers can handle this year.

The number of holes to be plugged following graduation of the Class of 1961—supplemented in unexpected fashion by academic attrition—is as rough a rebuilding assignment as Princeton has faced since the fall of 1953. That proved to be a truly disastrous year for the Tigers, who never did play a really good game of football all season. Along the way, they staggered to razor-thin victories over weak Columbia and Rutgers teams, edged an injury-riddled Harvard eleven, 6-0, on a last-minute touchdown and lost to Cornell, Yale, Dartmouth and Navy—the 65-7 defeat by the midshipmen ranking as the worst in Princeton history.

Material Better. It may well be that the 5-4 record of eight years ago will be the best the upcoming Nassau eleven can do, but expectations are that it will play better football in the process. And a year later, the 1954 Tigers still managed to win only five games, partially salvaging another in the form of a 6-6 tie with Colgate. Brightest hope for the season which lies ahead is that the current sophomore crop will be a major asset a year from now; the present juniors will hit their peak in 1962; and the losses by graduation next June will be smaller than at any time in the post-war era.

For 1961, there are just too many problems to solve in the short span of a nine-week season. While Princeton will be a measurably better football team by November 1 than in late September, most of its opponents—confronted with lesser difficulties—are expected to make even more rapid progress.

Consider these known weaknesses:

- Less experience at center than any varsity squad has had at Princeton in a dozen years—a fact compounded by the academic failure of junior Bob Keyes, once the top candidate for the position
- Only one letterman returning at tackle—the position on which the strength of any line hinges. Here, too, the inexperience which the coaching staff must combat is without parallel since the late 40's.

- Fairly high potential but again, almost total inexperience, at both fullback and tailback. Greg Riley, the ranking tailback, proved a defensive standout last fall but on offense, ran and passed only a total of 26 times. The combined experience of the three top fullback candidates is even less than this.

FULLBACK CANDIDATE: Junior Brad Urquhart, a standout as a freshman two years ago, is a leading candidate for Princeton's wide open position as fullback.

- Lack of depth at virtually every position save left guard and right end, making the Tigers extremely vulnerable to injuries as the rebuilding program unfolds.

Opposition Appears Strong. Complicating Princeton's problems is the apparently justified optimism that exists in most of the campuses of its nine opponents. For example, the two teams which trimmed the Tigers a year ago (Rutgers and Yale) agree they won't be any better than they were in 1960, but lend weight to the prediction that they won't slough off much, either. The Scarlet was 8-1, the Blue, 9-0 and to be blunt about it, both are likely to manhandle the Tigers rather thoroughly.

Four of the seven foes Princeton topped in 1960 expect to field better teams than they did last fall. These include Penn, now in its second year under John Stiegman; Cornell, eagerly looking forward to its first season under former Army backfield coach Tom Hup; Columbia, bolstered by more veteran material than the Lions have known in a decade; and Colgate, which should benefit from good freshman teams in 1959 and 1960, now back to back on the varsity.

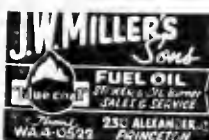

Of the others, Brown figures to be about the same, though still weak, while Harvard and Dartmouth are pegged as having sizeable rebuilding problems. This may make the Crimson a relatively softer touch, but not so Dartmouth by the time November rolls around. A combination of good holdover material and topflight sophomores will make the Indians mighty tough to handle.

WHO'S THE END COACH?

No Announcement to Date. Although it is now eight months since Cappy Cappon was sidelined from his coaching career by a heart attack, no announcement has been made as to who will coach the ends on the Princeton football team this fall.
Jake McCandless pinch-hit for him throughout the second half of the basketball season, guiding the Tigers to successful defense of their Ivy League title and into the second round of the NCAA tournament. Expectations are that Cap will return as basketball coach when practice begins November 1.

While a shuffle in the personnel of the football coaching staff to compensate for his possible decision not to return to this sport has been rumored, no announcement—Continued on Page 20

William G. Ayre, 66, of Campus Lane, Lawrenceville, died August 9 at his home of a heart attack. One of the country's outstanding preparatory school teachers, he was a visiting history master at Lawrenceville School during the past year. He had been appointed dean of the Foxcroft School on July 1.

He assumed the position of education editor of the New York Herald Tribune in 1943, after serving for 17 years as head of the history department at Deerfield Academy. In 1950 he was named vice-president of Colgate University, and joined the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace in 1952 as special assistant to the president. He retired from the organization last year as executive associate.

Mr. Ayre was a trustee of Emma Willard School, Brearley School, Briarcliffe College, and Mount Holyoke College, and a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the Council of Foreign Relations and the Century Association. He received his bachelor of arts degree from Amherst College in 1916, and was an assistant in political science there the following year. During World War I, he served as lieutenant (j.g.) in the Navy.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Helen Brooks Weiser Ayre; a son, Philip Ayre; and a daughter, Miss Margery Ayre. The service was held in the Edith Memorial Chapel of Lawrenceville School, with interment in Deerfield, Mass.

Mrs. Alice Coes Coyle, 69, of Centerville, Md., died August 10 at her home in Centerville following a long illness. Wife of Captain Irwin D. Coyle, USN-Ret., she was the mother of Dan D. Coyle, an Editor and Publisher of TOWN TOPICS and Assistant to the President, Princeton University.

In addition to her husband and son, she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. David A. Wasson, of Kittery Point, Me., and Mrs. Albert W. Lamprell, has been made. Daily meetings of the coaching staff began Monday, with the annual expedition to the Blairstown training camp only a fortnight away.

Best guess is that no outsider will be brought here as late in the summer as this, but that present personnel will be reshuffled in the event that Capp's post has to be filled. With time out for war-time service, he's been a fixture on the Princeton football scene since 1935.

TENNIS TRIP PLANNED

To Philadelphia. A trip to the National Girls' Tennis Championships in Philadelphia is being planned by the YWCA for all interested boys and girls in the Princeton area. The occasion will also offer an opportunity for those who wish to participate in a clinic directed by Maureen Connolly, former National Women's champion.

Mrs. Eve Kraft will be in charge of the group making the trip next Wednesday, August 23. Registration for a seat on the bus should be made before 5 o'clock on Monday.

AUTO SHOW PLANNED

In New Hope. The New Hope Automobile Show will offer 200 trophies and a Grand Prize for Sports Car Clubs of Baltimore, Md., and two granddaughters.

Both the funeral and interment were private and were held Monday in Arlington National Cemetery, Washington, D. C. Contributions may be made to the Alice Coes Coyle Book Fund, Princeton University, which has been established in her memory by her family.

Bryant Putney, 50, of 11 Arrenton Road, died August 1 in Washington, D. C., following a heart attack. A graduate of the University of Wisconsin in 1933, he worked in Washington for Scripps-Howard, Editorial Research Reports, and the Office of Defense Transportation. From 1943 to 1945, he served in the Navy as a lieutenant (j.g.).

Iness Administration in Washington at the time of his death. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Marjorie Paff Putney; a son, William Putney, both of Princeton; a sister, Mrs. George Fite, and his mother, both of Carville, La. Interment was in Wausau, Wis.

Irving Warren Mershon, 78, of 159 Nassau Street, died August 15 after a long illness. Born in the first house built on William Street, he was a descendant of Richard Stockton, who built Morven, and of the Warren and Wright families, Quakers who came to the Stony Brook area in 1696. His parents, William and Katherine Anderson Mershon, retired from the Borough Board of Education in February of this year, following 30 years as a member. He was district clerk from 1941 to 1947, and secretary from 1947 until his retirement.

Since 1904, Mr. Mershon voted in every School Board election but one. Upon his retirement, he was cited by the Federated Boards of Education of New Jersey for his "high competence, rich experience, deep wisdom and human understanding."

This year, the Teachers' Association Scholarship was established in his name for Princeton High School graduates, and a music room in the High School was dedicated to him.

A trustee of the Princeton Methodist Church for over 25 years, Mr. Mershon retired from the choir this year after 64 years. He joined the choir on Easter Day, 1897, and was named to the Official Board in 1909.

Following graduation from the "Old Model School" in 1898, he studied at what is now Rider College, and joined the First National Bank as an assistant cashier in 1900. During his 17 years at the bank, he helped develop the first machine-record bookkeeping system ever installed in a New Jersey bank.

After a year with the Federal Food Survey in New England during 1918, he entered the O. H. Hubbard Agency, a real estate and insurance firm at 142 Nassau Street. The Agency was founded in 1887.

In 1947, the Agency's activities were included in a film, produced by a leading insurance company, to interest college men in insurance careers.

Past Master of Princeton Lodge #38, F & AM, Mr. Mershon was an exempt member of the Hook and Ladder Company, and a member of the Princeton Symphony Orchestra's board of directors. He belonged to the Sons of the Revolution, the Shrine, Rotary, the International Order of Odd Fellows and the Huguenot Society.

He leaves his wife, Grace Lucile Olmstead Mershon, and a sister, Mrs. Edward Baldwin of Princeton. The funeral will be held at 10:30 this Thursday morning at the Methodist dist. church. Burial will be in Princeton Cemetery under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home. In lieu of flowers, contributions are requested for the Memorial Fund of the Methodist Church, or the Teachers' Association Scholarship Fund.

Mrs. Elizabeth S. Edmonds, 64, who was for a number of years a resident of Rocky Hill, died August 11 in Princeton Hospital. She had more recently lived in Port Richey, Fla.

Widow of Clarence C. Edmonds, she is survived by a son, Dr. Russell S. Edmonds of Princeton; a daughter, Mrs. Albert L. MacCombie of Stirling, N. J.; two sisters, Mrs. Ordella Scheetz of Little York, N. J., and Mrs. Nell Zeilsdorf of Danbury, Pa.; a brother, Francis Case of Little York, five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The service was held at the Mather Funeral Home, with Pastor A. L. Covell of the Seventh Day Adventists officiating. Burial was in Rocky Hill Cemetery.

Joseph Sylvester of Scotch Road, Pennington, died August 12. A retired farmer, he was a lifelong resident of Pennington.

Husband of Catherine Field Sylvester, he is also survived by a son, George A.; a daughter, Mrs. Harry Harle, both of Pennington; eight grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The service was held at a Pennington funeral home, with Rev. L. G. Gordon of the Nazarene, Trenton, officiating. Burial was in Harborton Cemetery.

Dr. Thurston J. Davies, 67, former secretary of the Graduate Council of Princeton and former chairman of the University's Board of Athletic Control, died August 13 in Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center, New York City, following a long illness.

A resident of Brooklyn, he was born in Knoxville, Tenn., and graduated from Princeton in 1916. Following several years as a master at the Gilman Country Day School in Baltimore, he was appointed headmaster of the Nichols School in Buffalo in 1925.

Dr. Davies was secretary of the Graduate Council of Princeton between 1929 and 1934, and chairman of the University's Board of Athletic Control from 1932 to 1934. After serving as president of Colorado College in Colorado Springs for 14 years, he joined Town Hall in New York City, and became its executive director in 1934. In 1936, he received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from the University of Denver.

Named executive director of the office of the U. S. Commissioner General to the Brussels Fair in 1937, he held that position until 1939 when the Fair closed. In the latter year, Dr. Davies became a consultant to the Downtown-Lower Manhattan Association, Inc., and the Port of New York Authority in connection with the founding of a World Trade Center in New York.

During World War I, he was a lieutenant in the Marines, and won the Croix de Guerre, the Silver Star and the Purple Heart. He saw action in the campaigns of Belleau Wood and Argonne.

Dr. Davies planned and directed the V-12 college training program for Marine Corps Reserve officers in World War II. He was a lieutenant colonel at Marine headquarters in Washington.

He is survived by his wife, Martha Hill Davies, director of the dance department of the Juillard School of Music; two daughters by a previous marriage, Mrs. Byron R. McClure of San Francisco, and Mrs. Howard S. Dilts of Carmichael, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Robert H. Gearheart of Media, Pa.; and eight grandchildren.

Mrs. Ann Jane Pilmatier of Marshall's Corner, Pennington, died August 14 after a lengthy illness. The wife of Charles E. Pilmatier, she was a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

In addition to her husband, she leaves two sons, Mark of Pennington, and Charles Jr. of Hopewell; three daughters, Miss Lucy M. of Pennington, Mrs. Luther Overstreet of Annandale, Va., and Dr. Ann C. Miller of Crystal Falls, Mich.; and three grandchildren.

The Rev. Walter Coats, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. A. Kenneth Magner, former pastor, officiated at the service, held in Pennington. Burial was in the Pennington Cemetery.

PAC IN FINALS

Eliminates South Brunswick. Two straight victories over South Brunswick put the Princeton Athletic Club in the finals of the Tri-County Baseball League playoffs. The first game will be played Monday at 6:15 on Clarke Field, against either Montgomery or Hightstown.

Monday night saw manager Tommy Petrone's team break the contest open the first time it came to bat, scoring six runs. Triples by Dick Borger and Gary Grover were the big blows as the PAC coasted to a 7-3 triumph behind Bruce Sandvik's good pitching.

The Tuesday game was a see-saw affair, the lead changing hands six times in as many innings. Off to a 1-0 advantage, Princeton fell behind, 3-1 before Grover's triple to left paced a rally that gave it a 4-3 margin.

South Brunswick bounced back to a 5-4 advantage as twilight fell. In its last turn at bat, however, PAC pushed across a pair of runs on a single by catcher Ed King, Marty McGuinn's sacrifice, Borger's single and Ray Cranstoun's double. Despite some shaky moments Jack Hawkins went all the way to pick up the victory.

Hightstown and Montgomery traded victories on each other's fields this week, with the rubber game set for Thursday at Montgomery. Hightstown staged an upset at Montgomery Monday, winning 5-2, but lost at home the following night, 4-0.

The final season standings:

	W.	L.	T.
Princeton	11	3	1
Montgomery	7	6	2
So. Brunswick	6	9	0
Hightstown	4	10	1

JETS SET RECORD

In Basketball League. The Jets set a team scoring record in the Community Basketball League Thursday when they walloped the Princeton Bombers, 102 to 78. The game was played on the Harrison Street court.

Outstanding performances for the victors were turned in by Marvin Trotman and Carl Belz, former Princeton University star. Trotman scored 44 points, one less than the League record held by Willie Hill. His playmaking and 28-point second half outburst was the downfall of the Bombers. Belz grabbed 26 rebounds and blocked 7 shots. He scored 15 points.

In the other senior league contest, the Trenton Braves maintained their slim hold on first place by edging the Wildcats, 76 to 73. Jay Sokolowski with 23 points, Paul Fisher, 18 and Paul Smith, 15, paced the Braves attack. The league's top scorer, Willie Hill, dropped in 30 Wildcat points. Charles Henson and Archie Freeman also hit double figures for the losers.

The Braves with a 4-1 record and the Jets, close behind at 3-1, have thus widened their lead over the Bombers, 2-4, and the cellar-dwelling Wildcats, 1-3.

In the Junior Division, the third-place Trotters upset the previously unbeaten Celtics who held a one-point halftime margin. The top shooter in the junior division, Tom Douglas, netted 20 points for the winners.

The second game, the Big Five defeated the winless Warriors, 38 to 35. Don Truesdale had 16 points for the winners and John Harbour 22 for the losers. The victory enabled the Big Five to tie the Celtics for first place. Both have won three and lost one.

ALL STAR GAME SET

In YMCA Junior League. The annual exhibition game between the champions of the YMCA Junior Baseball League and an all-star team made up of players from the other three teams will be played Monday. The game will start at 6:15 on the Princeton High School field.

The outcome of the league season was determined Wednesday when Nassau Oil and the Water Company, both tied at 7-4, settled the issue with a playoff contest. The playoff was forced when Nassau Oil trounced Matthews Construction, 18-3, to gain the tie.

GOLF EXHIBITION SET

By Trick-Shot Artist. Paul Hahn, well-known for his trick shots in golf, will give an exhibition Saturday at 4:30 at the Pike Brook Country Club, Belle Mead.

Hahn offers a variety of amusing and unusual shots, including drives hit off tees a yard high, others driven from a kneeling position or belted 200 yards while standing on a one-legged stool. Spectators may bring cameras to photograph any part of the show. Tickets at the club are 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children under 12.
